

Holes have been drilled into the bone of which farmyard bird? What was this object used for?

What kind of food was caught with this Saxon object?

What is this object called?

How would it help a Viking on horseback when in battle?

This spouted jug is an example of Thetford ware. It has more handles than shown here. Draw on any that are missing.

Draw on the pattern that has been removed from this small Viking object – known as Thor's Hammer.

What kinds of things were buried with this Anglo-Saxon woman?

What are these two objects and what are they made of?

Draw them on the figure below, in the correct place they would be worn.

How did this figure get its strange name of Spong Man?

What would this object have been used for?

This is the largest hoard of Anglo-Saxon coins discovered in Norfolk. Where and when was it discovered, and how many coins are there in the hoard?

What were small buckets like this used for? Draw a different sort of container which held the contents of this type of bucket.

