Why have Friends?

The Lynn Museum explores the rich heritage of the local landscape and houses archaeological finds through the ages. The Friends organisation was formed in 1957 to help promote and support the museum and facilitate the acquisition of artefacts at the request of the Museum. The Friends play an important role in supporting our local heritage.

What do the Friends actually do?

- Purchase or contribute to the purchase of items of interest which otherwise would be lost.
- Fund a programme of continual restoration and conservation.
- Working alongside staff from the Museum to provide equipment required for display and educational purposes.
