

NEW KS5 A Level History events at Strangers' Hall

Tudors KS5 A Level – suitable for all exam boards

Strangers' Hall, Wed-Fri, 2 hours, £3.50 per student, max 25

Bring Tudor history to life through the rooms, objects and documents in Strangers' Hall museum in Norwich – home of Tudor merchants and mayors.

Students will describe and explain political, religious and social changes during and after Tudor times by analysing the wills of different owners of the hall from the 16th and early 17th centuries.

They will also explore a Tudor-style bedroom and parlour, analysing objects and inventories in order to build up a picture of how the Tudors lived.

There will also be time to discover other Tudor-style rooms including the Great Hall – where the high table is set for a feast – and the Great Chamber, where politics and business were carried out.

A self-led walking trail of Tudor sights including Reformation churches, former monasteries, a Protestant martyr's memorial and the site of Kett's rebellion is also optional.

Exam specification links:

- Henry VIII's character
- Society: elites and commoners; the social impact of religious upheaval, reasons for the growth of poverty, the importance of charities and local authorities in the provision of poor relief, impact of the closure of the monasteries, the state of England politically, economically, religiously and socially by 1603
- Economic development: trade
- Religion: reform of the Church; continuity and change by 1603; popular attitudes to Catholicism, Protestantism and Puritanism; impact of religious change on patronage
